Last Derby Lecture Program

On Wednesday, May 16, the fifth of the Derby Academy Lecture Series will be held at 8 p.m. in Sarah Derby Hall at the Academy. This final program will be presented by Earthwatch, a non-profit organization which combines scientists, scholars and lay volunteers in the adventure of field research.

To date, expeditions have involved 300 scientists in forty five countries and twenty states, conducting health and medical investigations, marine biology explorations, and conservation of natural resources and endangered species studies, among many others.

Wednesday's presentation, "Youth in the Humanities: A Search for Answers", offers slides, film and commentary on research projects from an archeological dig in Nevada, to animal behavior investigations of the wild ponies of Assateague and Chincoteague to documentation of the eruption of a volcano in Mexico.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets will be available at the door for what promises to be a stimulating introduction to the extensive projects undertaken by the members of Earthwatch.
